STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

Global Health and Soccer in Dar es Salaam and Zanzibar, Tanzania

The purpose of the Brookline High School Global Health and Soccer trip is to enable Brookline students see first hand some of the challenges and opportunities of healthcare work in a lower income country and to have a rich cultural exchange through sport.

Connection to Global Leadership Course

The Global Leadership course has four major units: Cultural Awareness, Global Diplomacy, Global Economics, and Global Development. The trip to Tanzania for Global Health and Soccer connects directly to the first and last of these units.

The trip connects to the Global Leadership in several central ways. The course begins with a unit about the importance for leaders to be culturally sensitive and aware of differing cultural mores and customs around the world. Students will be immersed in a radically different culture, East African, Swahili coast, lower income, predominantly Muslim. There are numerous differences between Brookline and Zanzibar and students will get to see these first-hand each day when they work and play with staff at the NGO's, students at the schools, and women on the football pitch.

The Global Leadership curriculum culminates in a unit on Global Development where students must identify a health challenge in a low income country. They then must identify what part governmental institutions, for-profit companies, foundations, and non-governmental organizations play in solving these types of challenges. In Zanzibar, the challenge students will study directly is the status of women in society in general. We will examine the programs of Pathfinder International and Coaches Across Continents in their attempts to raise the status of women.

With Coaches Across Continents, we will hear from CAC staff about the role that Nike, The Ford Foundation, the Clinton Global Initiative, UNICEF, and the Zanzibar Ministry of Sport play in their work on the island. Nick Gates, the head of CAC, will Skype with students before the trip and students will visit directly with staff from the Ministry of Sport, as well as UNICEF. With CAC, students will meet with, and eventually also play soccer with, women in three or four different football clubs on the island. They will hear from these women the role that sport has played in changing the status of women on the island.

With Pathfinder International, students will also visit with staff for educational briefings before the trip. They will hear about the role of the United States Government in the form of United States Agency for International Development plays in assisting the Tanzanian and Zanzibari government in implementing the programs they will visit. On the island, students will visit the "One Stop" program designed to address domestic violence through coordination with the Ministry of Health, the local hospitals, and the police department. Students will also visit classes for parents and their children designed to prevent violence against children. In addition, students will also see the role religion can play in prevention of violence when they meet with local imams who will discuss the change they have seen in their own congregations. Finally, they will see a small-scale community based micro-lending program, whereby women learn economic and marketing skills to help their families and community thrive.

In Global Leadership, we have a “speakers series” where students must contact a professional who has worked in the field of Global Development and invite them to the class, either through remote connection or actually visiting the class, to talk about their work promoting development. During the trip, students will meet with these professionals first-hand to understand the work in Zanzibar.

Program Information

The Brookline Global Health and Soccer trip will work primarily with two well known international non-governmental organizations: Pathfinder International (www.pathfinder.org) and Coaches Across Continents (www.coachesacrosscontinents.org). Pathfinder International was founded in 1957 with a mission focused on family planning and reproductive healthcare. The organization has been working in East Africa for over fifty years and specifically Tanzania for almost thirty. Coaches Across Continents has been working in sub-Saharan Africa for six years and in that time has received extensive recognition for its work, including recognition from UNICEF, the Clinton Global Initiative, and Google. A full list of the awards and recognition is at: <http://coachesacrosscontinents.org/about/#our-awards> In Tanzania, it specifically works with the Tanzanian government and the Ministry of Sport concerning programs to increase the health and welfare of girls. In Zanzibar, CAC works specifically with the local Zanzibari government as well.

Pathfinder International

This international Non-Governmental Organization focuses on reproductive health care, family planning, and HIV / AIDS work in Tanzania and around the globe. Pathfinder has been active in Tanzania for over thirty years and is well recognized, not only within the reproductive health care community, but with the Tanzanian government for its work. It has a long-running and extremely successful history of working with the Tanzanian government at the highest levels and has been instrumental in many programs coordinating with the Ministry of Health throughout the country. Two of the many projects that Pathfinder has in Tanzania are described here.

<http://www.pathfinder.org/our-work/projects/mobilizing-maternal-health-in.html>

<http://www.pathfinder.org/our-work/projects/preventing-sexual-and-gender-violence-against-children.html>

Brookline students will be coordinating with Pathfinder International both before the trip and during it. Pathfinder, whose international headquarters is in Watertown Massachusetts, will be responsible for the global health aspect of the trip, both leading into it with education and during it in facilitating activities and visits with local NGO staff. Brookline students will visit with headquarters program staff there can easily visit with Brookline students as they learn more about the reproductive health care, family planning, and HIV / AIDS work Pathfinder does in Tanzania. Students will study four projects in particular: adolescent friendly reproductive health care education projects, Cervical Cancer Prevention, HIV / AIDS work with Home Based Care providers, and Violence Against Children prevention work on Zanzibar. They will spend time with Pathfinder staff in Dar es Salaam to learn about the dedication of global health advocates and staff. They will also examine the work of Pathfinder Tanzania on a national scale with the Tanzanian Ministry of Health and university education system. They will also have a chance to meet with community based health care volunteers and visit health clinics as well as possibly go on some home visits with the health volunteers.

Coaches Across Continents and New Generation Queens

Brookline students will also have a chance to work with staff from Coaches Across Continents who will coordinate the soccer aspect of the trip. Coaches Across Continents headquarters is in Cambridge Massachusetts. Nick Gates, the executive director, is overseeing the specifics of the field trip. Over the past three years, CAC has been working closely with the Tanzanian government and Save the Children, the Zanzibar Football Association, and UNICEF to address the challenges of child protection and female empowerment. CAC has done extensive work with the Tanzanian government specifically around female empowerment and designing activities to promote those, both in Zanzibar and, more generally, throughout the country.

Leading up to the trip, students will examine the role of sport in global development, specifically the use of soccer to improve the status of women in societies around the globe in general and more directly in Africa. CAC works in several African countries, including Tanzania, Malawi, and the Democratic Republic of Congo, among twenty-four different countries around the world. Students will examine how international N.G.O's like CAC, Soccer Without Borders, and Women Deliver all use soccer to improve women's lives. Brookline students will specifically focus on CAC's approach (more details are here - <http://coachesacrosscontinents.org/our-difference/>) as well as coordinating with staff through Skyping with Nick Gates and Nora Dooley, among others. In the spring, students will also help organize and attend a screening of New Generation Queens: a Zanzibar soccer story by the director Megan Shutzer. During this event, students will have the opportunity to meet with Shutzer and participate in a panel discussion about gender empowerment through sports. Shutzer's film, New Generation Queens, is a feature documentary about Zanzibar's women's soccer team and it explores the historical, religious, and cultural context surrounding the belief that women's soccer is immoral. The young women of the New Generation Queens challenge these established ideas about gender, Islam, and soccer and travel to the mainland to compete at a tournament in front of scouts for Tanzania's national team. More information about the film can be found at <http://www.newgenerationqueens.com/film/>. This education process will culminate with friendly soccer activities with various Zanzibari women soccer teams during the week we are on the island. During these informal activities and mixed-side scrimmages, students will have a chance to meet with and interact with the Zanzibari women soccer players, as well as experience first-hand how sport can be a transformative experience and a vehicle for cultural exchange. Students will also read briefing materials from Women Deliver about women in sport around the world and then Skype with Tamara Windau-Melmer, one of the staff from Women Deliver about some of the global movements supporting women in sport and some of the challenges. This will help students set their specific trip and the programs in Zanzibar in a larger global context.

SOS School

<http://www.sos-childrensvillages.org/where-we-help/africa/tanzania/zanzibar>

We will also visit the SOS Children's Village School on Zanzibar. Students will have an opportunity to visit with students in various classrooms, particularly English and Physical Education classes. In addition, BHS students will also have a chance to volunteer with the kindergarten classes during recess.

Big Tree School

This is a very small local school that BHS students, parents, and a teacher visited in the summer of 2016. We will spend time with the children who are 5-7 years old. We will also help the school clear ground in a neighboring lot to help them construct a new school.

- Spice tour
- Walking tour of the historical quarter of Zanzibar city
- Tour of local restaurants, markets, and shops in Stone Town

Connection to School Committee Mission and Goals

The Tanzania Sports and Global Health field trip supports School Committee Core Values and Goals in the following ways:

Mission -- Core Values: Collaboration

Through collaboration we find new sources of learning and strength. The Public Schools of Brookline actively promote collaborative relationships. We seek out partnerships with community organizations that add value to our school system. We urge and support collaboration and exchange within and across our school community.

The trip itself models collaboration with three non-governmental organizations: Pathfinder International, Coaches Across Continents, and the SOS School. These three are "community organizations that add value to our school system." Furthermore, the programs of Pathfinder

International and Coaches Across Continents model collaboration between international NGO's and local NGO's as well as collaboration with national and local governments. Both PI and CAC work with the Tanzanian government and local NGO's in Zanzibar and Dar es Salaam.

Mission -- Core Values: Respect for Human Difference

We are committed to acknowledging and celebrating the diversity within our community while affirming the importance of our common humanity. By promoting a safe environment for questioning and challenge, we foster the growth and value that comes from different perspectives, cultures and experiences. Our commitment is to create an atmosphere of safety in which to acknowledge and express difference while advancing true acceptance and respect for all.

In this trip, students will learn a wide array of perspectives, from simply working with people from a radically different culture, to seeing the mix of cultures in East Africa. One simple example appears with the head of Pathfinder International, Mustafa Kudrati, is Indian by heritage, Tanzanian by birth, and speaks Hindi, Urdu, Swahili, and American English. The students cannot help but see the world from different points of view, whether in examining how to solve health crises like HIV / AIDS in East Africa or to work with cultural challenges around the status of women in sports. They will hear from staff off two well-known international NGO's as well as local government officials in Tanzania. Through Arts in Tanzania, they will also have cultural experiences and study some of the history of the Swahili Coast.

Goal: Every Student Prepared for Change and Challenge

Instill in every student the habits of mind and life strategies critical for success in meeting the intellectual, civic, and social demands of life in a diverse, ever-changing, global environment.

In addition to supporting the above School Committee missions, the trip also supports the goal stated above. Through preparation before the trip, whether readings or speakers, the students will understand some of the challenges of working in a lower income country that is radically different in many ways from their home culture in Brookline Massachusetts. They will also understand a few of the myriad complexities of addressing global diseases or bringing about cultural change around women's status. This will both prepare them better to operate in such an environment and also help open their eyes to the possibility that they can operate on such a global stage. These first-hand experiences for students will demonstrate powerfully for students that they too can engage in this type of work and this type of change.

EDUCATIONAL RELEVANCE:

19. What is the purpose of the trip and how does it relate to the Brookline High School Course Syllabi?

The purpose of the trip is three-fold. First, students will have a chance to understand the challenges and complexities of non-governmental work in lower income countries, whether an NGO is designed to address a public health crisis like the HIV / AIDS pandemic or a more local challenge like culture around women and sports. Second, students will be able to see how sports can be a language of dialogue and cultural exchange. Finally, it will help students understand that they can operate on a global stage and be involved in this kind of change, whether in East Africa or another part of the world, whether in global health, cultural change, or another area of their own passion.

20. Describe activities planned before the trip to prepare students:

21. Describe activities planned after the trip to wrap-up/reflect:

Students who participate will be asked to discuss the conference with the Global Leadership class members who were not at the conference and also the Amnesty International chapter members who did not participate. Further, we will work to coordinate with the Sagamore for a possible article or use of social media during and after the event.

ACCESSIBILITY AND STUDENT SAFETY:

22. To what extent does the field trip group reflect the diversity of the school population? What efforts will be undertaken to ensure that, to the greatest extent possible, the participants in this field trip are representative of the school population?

Once the School Committee has approved the trip, we will make a strong and concerted effort to encourage participation from a broad spectrum of BHS students so that the group reflects the makeup of the larger student body.

This trip will have a Needs Blind admissions process whereby applications for financial aid are submitted separate from regular applications and will not be revealed until after selections are made. The financial aid process will award students a percentage of his or her trip that will be covered and we will ensure that percentage is paid for by school fund raising activities.

22. What measures are planned to ensure student safety on the trip, including chaperone coverage, student behavior contracts, etc?

Enrollment in Smart Traveler Enrollment Program (STEP). This is a service of the Bureau of Consular Affairs of the U.S. Department of State that alerts the U.S. Embassy in Tanzania of our travel when we arrive in Tanzania. This is the program recommended by the U.S. Embassy in Tanzania. (<http://tanzania.usembassy.gov/emergency.html>)

Additionally, we will also call the U.S. Embassy after the trip is approved to find out any travel advisories that might exist and against before our departure. We will also consult the following website for any specific information.

http://tanzania.usembassy.gov/information_for_travelers.html

Beyond the typical measures of traveling with any student group on an overnight trip, in traveling to a country like Tanzania, there are two particular areas of focus for student safety: health and security.

Health Safety

For health safety, there are several different areas we will address before departure and others as well during our travel:

- 1) Immunizations - We have spoken with the Mt. Auburn travel clinic and they will do a briefing for students and parents, as well as provide an opportunity for students to receive any needed immunizations that they do not have. Those students who do not participate in this will be required to provide proof of visiting a travel clinic and receiving the proper immunizations and medications concerning diseases like tuberculosis, typhoid, malaria, and yellow fever. All students immunizations records must be up to date. This will also include the need for bringing medications like imodium and cipro designed to address gastrointestinal illness or distress.

- 2) Medication - Students will also be advised to bring medication for travel / motion sickness if they are prone to this, as well as medication, both over the counter and prescription, for gastrointestinal illness and possible diarrhea.
- 3) Briefings - Students and parents will attend mandatory briefing concerning travel and health and diet in a low income country. This will cover restrictions on diet, namely strong advisories to avoid certain food (anything that has not been cooked, peeled, boiled, or processed). This is particularly a concern with fruits and vegetables. Students will also be advised that food security in terms of avoiding severe allergies like those with nuts simply cannot be guaranteed. Students will also understand the challenges of water, both in terms of safety of not using tap water for drinking or brushing teeth, but also the need to consume only bottled water or canned or bottled drinks. This caution includes any consumption of ice.
- 4) Diet - Students will be advised to bring power bars or other nutrition that is easily portable with them so that if there are days with long breaks between meals, they can avoid low blood sugar. They will also be advised to drink considerable amounts of fluid to ensure against dehydration, a common occurrence in more tropical climates. We will also purchase and have available large quantities of safe water for everyone to drink.

Security Safety

This aspect of the trip is paramount and involves understanding risks and taking focused clear steps to avoid those risks. This is the same approach that we take with all of our exchange trips to France, Mexico, China, Nicaragua, the Dominican Republic, Italy, Cambodia, Germany, or Spain. One of the best ways to do this is to rely on those who know the area the best. This is similar to the foreign exchange students, whether from China, Japan, or France, who visit Brookline High School. We might advise them to avoid certain parts of Boston during certain events or certain times of day or night.

We are relying on local expertise with Pathfinder International and Coaches Across Continents. We have had extensive conversations with staff members of both organizations about the safety of the students. Based on the recommendations of these organizations there are several steps that we are taking.

- 1) Registering with the American Embassy in Dar es Salaam.
- 2) Registering with Smart Traveler Enrollment Program <https://step.state.gov/STEP/Index.aspx> sponsored by the U.S. State Department which delivers updates and alerts about locations around the globe, in this case specifically Tanzania.

We have done extensive research to look into other organizations which also do student trips not only to Tanzania in general, but specifically to Zanzibar and Stone Town. In addition, we have traveled there ourselves to understand first-hand how best to make this trip safe and successful. Below are listed the organizations and their websites. It is clear that many different educational organizations conduct trips not only to Tanzania in general but to Zanzibar specifically.

24. Will students be swimming? Yes. All students will have a signed permission slip from their parents if they wish to swim. The hotel has a swimming pool and there is a beach nearby as well.

25. If travelling outside of the United States, please attach the appropriate Department of State notices and advisories.

As of December 2016, there were no significant warnings concerning Tanzania, except to be aware of petty theft situations and avoiding large political rallies. These are common sense warnings that would be true of any foreign travel. (For example, pick pockets are quite common on Paris Metro cars.)

We will also be monitoring this site for ongoing alerts and notices.

FUNDING:

26. What is the cost of the trip? $3900

The projected cost is $3900 per student. This cost includes: round trip airfare on scheduled airlines, hotel stays, transportation to and from the airport, most meals during the time:

For a detailed budget, please refer to the budget document.

27. How will the field trip be funded?

The trip will be funded by the families of participants. As described in #28 and #29 below, we will actively engage in fundraising efforts to raise money for scholarships, and students will be encouraged to assist their family by contributing to the cost through their own work. We are currently working to solicit donations from private individuals who want to support the work of expanding opportunities for students at Brookline High School, particularly students who would not otherwise be able to afford these trips.

28. What accommodations are made for students who cannot afford the expenses of the trip? Are partial and/or full scholarships available?

Yes, scholarships will be available. We will work to raise money for at least one and a half full scholarships, which will be divided amongst those students who have financial need, to help ensure that all students who want to go can afford to. Further, we will work with the administration to publicize the trip through various avenues, including international service clubs, METCO, and Steps to Success, among other places.

Furthermore, we will let students know that scholarships are available and that all scholarship requests will remain confidential. Students may complete a separate scholarship application that will in no way restrict their selection to participate. If additional funds are needed, additional fundraisers will be planned to supplement them. Acceptance to the trip will be determined separately from scholarship awards so as not to influence selection process.

29. If fundraisers are planned to help lower the cost of the trip for all students, please describe those plans here.

We are planning to do a screening of the film, “New Generation Queens” at a local theater and charge admission as well as ask for donations. In addition, we will look to do additional fundraisers in connection such as a silent auction or a lottery. In addition, we are working to reach out to local soccer organizations, such as Global Premier Soccer, to solicit donations to support the women’s soccer programs in Tanzania.
