Special Education Parent Advisory Council

Supporting the education of all Brookline Children

Brookline SEPAC serves as a liaison between parents/guardians of students with special needs and school district administrators. As mandated by Massachusetts law, we provide feedback to the district on special education programs and policies, and participate in their planning and development.

We offer information to the community on a range of disabilities, resources and education issues. Topics presented at meetings include parents' rights under Special Education laws and regulations, effective collaboration with teachers and administrators, and strategies for parenting and teaching children with disabilities. Meetings are open to all parents/guardians, teachers, specialists and persons with interest in education.

Does your child have an IEP?

Do you want to know your child's rights to receiving an education?

Talk to parents who share commonalities with your family?
