Re: FY2023 Budget Status Update Report as of May 14, 2023

Included with this memorandum is a summary of the Salary and Non-Salary expenditures from the following funding sources as budgeted in the FY2023 budget documents:

- School Committee Operating Funds
- ESSER Grant Funds (salary expenditures only)
- ARPA Grant Funds
- Circuit Breaker Funds
- Materials Fee Revolving Account Fund

The budget shown on this report reflects the original budget amounts approved at the annual Town Meeting. In addition, the report includes the additional $514,995 approved at the Fall Town Meeting. In closing out FY2022, we were able to carry forward a greater portion of ESSER salary funds than originally anticipated when developing the FY2023 budget. The budget amount of $1,000,000 reflected on this report is the original salary portion of the ESSER grants included in the FY2023 budget documents. The actual funds available, as reported to the School Committee in the FY2022 Budget Recap dated October 18, 2022, include both the salary and non-salary portion of the ESSER grants. A status update for the Special Revenue Funds is also included with this memorandum. In previous budget documents and reports, the non-salary portion of our grants and revolving funds were not reported. A portion of the non-salary ESSER funds are reserved for mandated payments to the Massachusetts Teachers Retirement System (MTRS). This amount is equal to 9% of the total salaries paid to staff that are enrolled in MTRS. We will be completing the final reconciliation of the MTRS payment over the next few weeks and determining the availability and use of any remaining non-salary funds. Except for the funds appropriated by Town Meeting, the budget amounts on this report have not been adjusted.

Based on current information, I am projecting an overall surplus in the School Committee Operating Budget. The largest portion of this surplus is from the Personnel Expense accounts. The surplus is mainly due to vacancies in key leadership positions, a slightly lower draw on the substitute teaching account and staff turnover that was higher than the $500,000 planned when developing the FY2023 budget. I am also projecting a surplus in the Non-Salary Expense accounts. The Out-of-District tuition account is projected to have a $1 million surplus. A significant portion of this surplus is being transferred to cover deficits in the Special Transportation account and special education settlements. I would recommend that a portion of the overall remaining surplus be transferred to the Information Technology department in order to restore programmatic reduction made during the pandemic. Feng Yang estimates the amount would be approximately $128K.

In order to provide the School Committee and the public a complete picture of the sources and uses of funds supporting the Public Schools of Brookline, I am including a status update for all special revenue funds. The special revenue funds are reported on a cash basis. A negative fund balance indicates that the anticipated revenue has not yet been requested, received and/or posted to the account. Due to staffing shortages and personnel turnover in the Town's Comptroller's and Treasurer's offices, we experience a delay with posting some of the revenues earlier this year. That is no longer the case. Bus Transportation revenue has not yet been reconciled which is why that account is highlighted on the document. Revenue has been incorrectly posted to the account. Further research and working with the Treasurer's office to correct the error is needed. The revenue shown on the attached report for the Bus Transportation account DOES NOT include the posting error.

For additional clarity, in reading the report, items summarized in the Non-Salary Expense categories are noted below:

- Outside Services/Contracts includes all contracts with individuals or organizations for repairs/maintenance, professional, technical, legal, translation, etc. Also includes transportation services and Out-of-District tuition.
- Supplies and Materials consumable items used during the school year.
- Other Expenses includes the cost for professional education, conferences, and training, as well as membership dues, mileage, and subscriptions.
- Utilities includes the cost of data communication lines, telephone, and wireless services
- Capital technology and maintenance equipment

Please let me know if you have any questions.

FY23 BUDGET STATUS REPORT as of MAY 14, 2023

NOTES ON SURPLUS/(DEFICIT)

- 1,546,961 (1) The projected surplus includes the additional funds appropriated at the Fall Town Meeting. The substitute account is projected to have a slight surplus based on information currently available. Vacancies in key leadership positions have also contributed to the projected surplus in the personnel account. Finally, turnover, which was budgeted at $500,000 was higher, approximately $975,000.
- 852,947 (2) The projected additional expenses include $559,148 to pay the treble damages award resulting from last summer's payroll processing timing error. These funds will be transferred from the personnel expense line into the Other Expenses line. Based on guidance from DESE, the damages are to be reported as a legal settlement. In addition, $645,000 will be transferred from the Out-of-District tuition account to cover Special Transportation costs, ($545,,000) and special education settlements ($100,000). At the end of the first and second quarter, we anticipated a surplus of $406,000 in the Out-of-District tuition account. In addition, we did not expect a need to use any of the $475,000 Out-of-District tuition contingency. The actual projected surplus in the Out-of-District tuition account is approximately $1 million. The expenses for Out-of-District tuition programs are unpredictable. We continue to closely monitor these expenses and are exploring cost saving measures in the area of special education transportation for FY24 and beyond.
- (3) At the end of FY22, we were able to carry over a larger portion of ESSER salary funds than anticipated when developing the FY23 budget. The (818, 125)budget amount of $1,000,000 reflected on this report is the original amount shown in the FY23 budget documents. This amount is only the salary portion of ESSER funds. The actual funds available, as reported to the School Committee in the FY22 Budget Recap include non-salary ESSER grant funds. The non-salary portion of our grants were not previously reported in budget documents and reports. A full accounting of all grant and revolving funds is included with this report.
