

Supporting special education and all the students in Brookline

The Brookline Special Education Parent Advisory Council (SEPAC) is an important resource for parents of students with Individualized Education Programs (IEP) and/or 504 Plans. We not only serve as both a liaison between parents/guardians of students with special needs and school district administrators, we are an advisory council to the school committee on special education programs and policies, and participate in their planning and development.

We offer information, workshops, and advice to the community on a range of disabilities, programs, resources and education issues. Topics presented at meetings include parent, guardian, and student rights under special education laws and regulations, effective collaboration with teachers and administrators, and strategies for parenting and teaching children with disabilities. Meetings are open to all parents and guardians, teachers, specialists and persons with interest in special education.

- Does your child have an IEP or 504?
- Do you want to know your child's rights to receiving an education?
- Do you have questions about the laws, regulations, or procedures?
- Are you interested in talking to parents who share commonalities with your family?
